

World Wide Treasures 5 - Two Charlies and a Dog

Luckily it was a quiet time of year when Martin drove from Las Vegas to the Arizona-Utah border, so after only 5 days of entering the lottery, he won a permit to visit the Wave. It wasn't easy to find, even with a map, but eventually he got there and admired the amazing sandstone formations. Once he had reached the cave, he got out his torch and began to look for his next clue. He found it wedged inside a horizontal crack at the back of the cave. It was a rolled up piece of leather, marked with the letter J, as usual, and inside the roll he found a paper with the next clues and a letter which read:

I hope you've enjoyed your journey so far and didn't have too much trouble to find this clue. Your next destination is a place with a rather colourful history. Strange things happened there. There were a troubled Essex boy, some vegetarian naturists and several more curious characters. Charlie and his dog stopped for a visit, too. I am sure you will find the stories very interesting. Good luck! J.

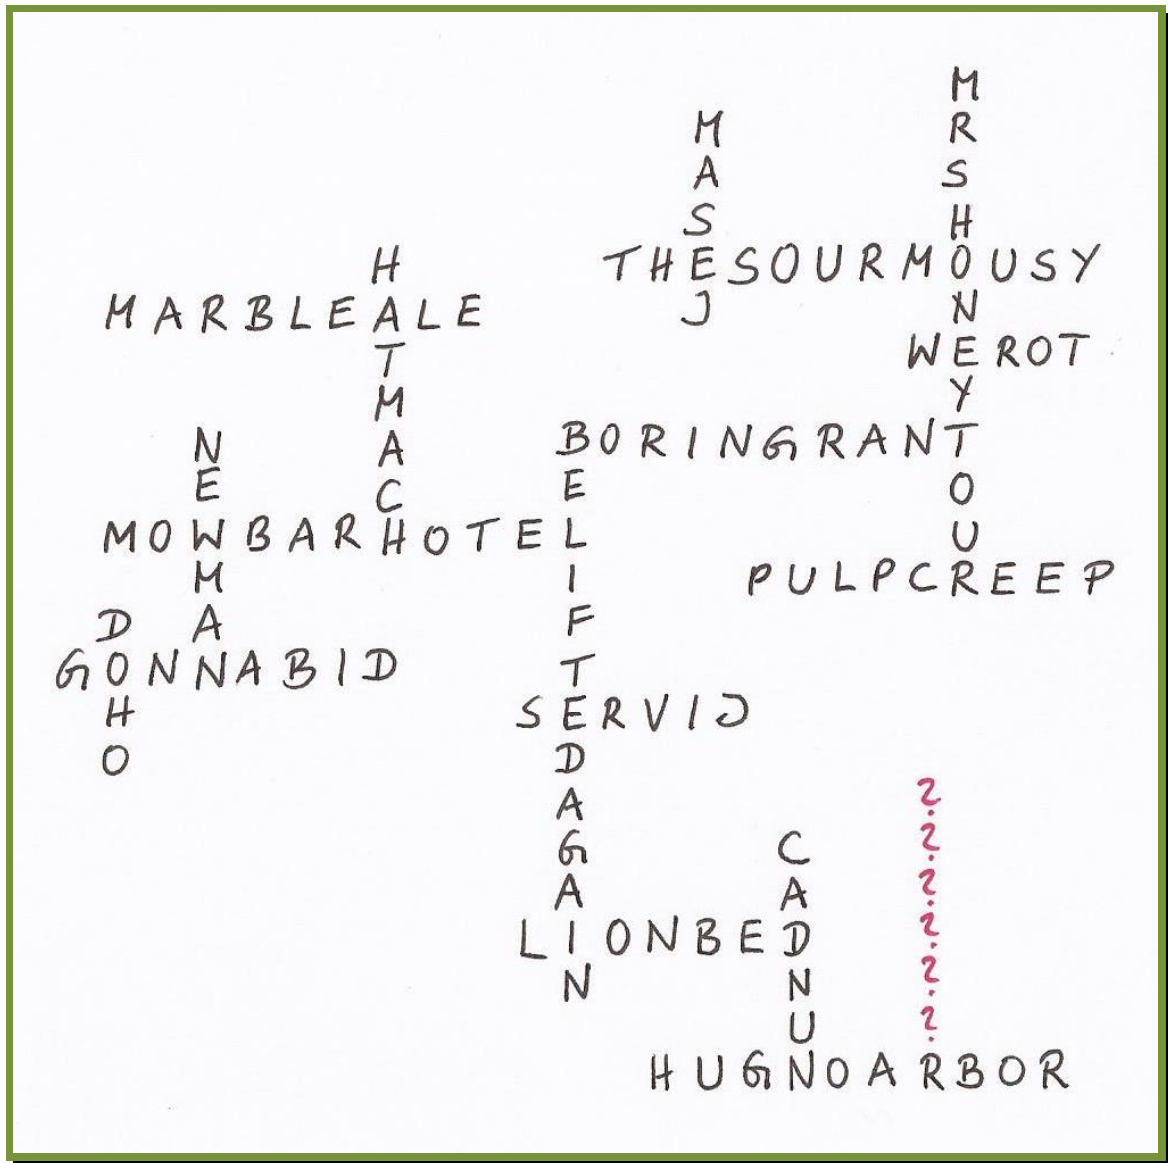

Martin hiked back to his car and drove to a nearby town, where he sat down in a diner and studied the new clues (see next page). Soon he knew where he had to go to next. It would be another challenge to get there.

Welcome to "World Wide Treasures". As the name suggests, the treasure for this hunt can be hidden anywhere on this planet. There is no digging involved and we have kept the hunt fairly straightforward, so that everyone can have a go. You will, however, have to use the internet for research. Go to Google Earth, explore places and photos and use the tools provided on that website. Please submit a complete solution, i.e. explain the various parts of the puzzles as detailed as possible.

The closing date is 8th June 2014 and all correct answers received by that date will be put in a hat and one winner drawn from that. So everyone has the same chance of winning. If there is no correct entry by that date, the first correct answer submitted thereafter will win. The prize is a free membership in the Armchair Treasure Hunt Club for 1 year.

Please send your solution to roger@treasureclub.net . Good luck!
